Eat Well to Work Well

1. Scientists have said for many years that having a healthy diet is one of the most important ways to keep our bodies fit and well. Recently, they have discovered that some foods are especially good for our minds. Eating certain foods at certain times really can help to keep our brains fit and healthy.

2. In today's busy world, many more of us skip breakfast _____ we rush for the bus or train. This leaves our bodies (and our brains!) without important energy for the first part of the day. Because we don't eat at night when we sleep, missing breakfast adds to the length of time we spend without food. Research shows that missing the first meal of the day can make us up to 20% less efficient at work or school. Most importantly, eating breakfast:

- improves our concentration
- helps us solve problems
- boosts our memory.

3. Dr Gavin Armitage, a psychology researcher, says that recent changes in lifestyle are having a big effect on what we eat. 'Many people are using energy bars and energy drinks instead of having a good breakfast. These are OK to have once or twice a week when you are in a hurry, but the energy they give only lasts for a short time. People who eat a balanced, healthy breakfast get a steady supply of energy for the whole morning.'

4. The Japanese are famous for working hard, _____ at school and in their jobs. So what's their secret? One answer is their diet. Japanese food has a really good balance of all the things we need to keep fit and well. The Japanese diet, and the nation's health, has improved as the country has become richer.

So what's the perfect breakfast to keep you active and working hard all morning? Well, why not try a traditional Japanese-style breakfast of steamed rice, soup, and various side dishes including grilled fish and omelette? What have you got to lose, apart from your tiredness? ЗАДАНИЕ 4. Reading 2

Read the three texts and answer the questions below by indicating which text each question relates to.

Text A

Australia: Skippyroo Kangaroo

How to Play: This is a popular game played in many Australian preschools and kindergartens to help children remember their classmates' names as well as develop good listening skills. Kids sit in a circle and an adult asks one child to go into the middle - she is the first Skippyroo, the kangaroo. Skippyroo crouches forward on the floor with her eyes closed while the kids in the circle chant: 'Skippyroo, kangaroo, dozing in the midday sun, comes a hunter, run, run, run.' At this moment an adult points to a child sitting in the circle, who then touches Skippyroo's shoulder and says, 'Guess who's caught you just for fun?' and waits. Skippyroo tries to name the owner of the voice and if she guesses correctly, swaps places. The game begins again and continues until all the kids have had a chance to be Skippyroo.

Text B

United Kingdom: Pass the Parcel

How to Play: Before the game begins, Mum or Dad will need to make the parcel by wrapping something fun or silly they have around the house in layer upon layer of paper. Using a different pattern or colour for each layer will make it easier for kids to tell them apart. To play, ask the kids to sit or stand in a circle, then turn on the music. Players pass the parcel around until a parent stops the music. The player who is holding the gift removes one layer of wrapping paper. Start up the music again and continue playing until the final layer of paper is removed. The child who removes the last layer of paper gets to keep what is inside. This is also a fun game for children to play at birthday parties, but you should make sure that the child celebrating opens a nice present.

Text C

Greece: Agalmata

How to Play: Choose one player to be 'It' and have her stand, eyes covered, in the centre of a playing field. She starts to count, at least to 10, but she can go higher. The point is that there's no set number; only 'It' knows when she'll stop and open her eyes. While 'It' is counting, the others scatter around, never sure when she'll yell 'Agalmata!'. That means 'statue' in Greek. Tell kids to yell it to be difficult or to just say 'statue' if that's easier. On this cue, players freeze, taking on poses that mimic famous statues. They can imitate any statue they've ever seen a photo of - a javelin thrower, The Thinker, even the Statue of Liberty. Kids are allowed to use found items, such as sticks, a ball, or a Frisbee, to add a touch of realism. 'It' tags any statues that are moving - they're out - then tries to make the steady children laugh or move. The last player remaining composed is the winner and becomes the new 'It'. This game is great for practising balance.
